

EXPORT EXPERTISE

Financial Resources to Grow Your Export Business

REASONS TO EXPORT FEARLESSLY

The U.S. Department of Commerce reported $2.5 trillion worth of goods and services were exported in fiscal year 2018—a record year for export growth, mostly done by small businesses. Don't miss opportunities to compete in the global market because your business lacks the support it needs.

Government organizations, such as the Export-Import Bank, offer programs to support your business's exporting needs, including:

01

Offering Open Account Credit Terms

To be more competitive and win the deal, you may extend up to 180 days of open account credit terms to a foreign buyer.

02

Protection Against Nonpayment

Export credit insurance is an insurance policy that protects your foreign receivables from a buyer's default.

03

Pay-As-You-Ship

You can insure your entire export portfolio, part of your portfolio, or a single buyer on a pay- as-you-ship basis with no minimum premium and no first-loss deductible.

04

Access to Working Capital

A working capital loan guarantee provides access to cash for export related inventory including labor, materials, overhead, Bid & Performance Bonds, and more.

05

EXPORTER SUPPORT PROGRAMS

Export Credit Insurance

EXIM's Export Credit Insurance is an insurance policy that covers receivables generated by international sales and protects your company against nonpayment by foreign buyers. If your company has been in business for at least one year, you can cost-effectively insure sales of any size. EXIM offers "pay-as-you-ship" coverage on the gross invoice value of each shipment, so there are no wasted premium dollars!

This powerful tool can be used to:

- ✔ Provide credit terms to foreign buyers that could increase sales
- ✔ Mitigate the risk of nonpayment by foreign buyers
- ✔ Increase borrowing power by assigning foreign receivables to lenders

Case Study:

FRITZ·PAK

Mequite, TX

Global exporting, including Mexico, Brazil, India, Taiwan

Uses Export Credit Insurance

Located in a warehouse east of Dallas, Fritz-Pak manufactures 40 different specialty products for the global construction industry, including concrete additives & plasters for pools. Today, Fritz-Pak is eyeing an expansion to the lot next door.

David Ojeda, the youngest of the father-mother-son team that runs Fritz-Pak, had the idea to look abroad for sales opportunities that could replace lost domestic sales after the 2008 recession. Using EXIM's export credit insurance, the Ojedas were able to offer credit terms to foreign buyers and protect against the risk of not being paid an especially acute concern when margins are thin.

With export credit insurance, exports now account for 35% of Fritz-Pak's total sales.
